

Angelica Garcia

March 12, 2026

Angelica Garcia, 64, passed away peacefully in Bryan, Texas, on March 12, 2026. Angelica was a woman of remarkable strength, resilience, and courage, a pioneer in her own life and a trailblazer in her own time. Her spirit, determination, and love left a lasting imprint on all who had the privilege of knowing her.

Angelica was born on August 29, 1961, in Fresno, California, to the late Rosendo Hernandez Flores and Cruz Peña Rodriguez. Throughout her life, she embraced many roles with grace and determination. She was a devoted mother, a proud grandmother, a loving wife, a cherished daughter, a supportive sister, a teacher, a mentor, and a loyal friend. Angelica carried within her the same honest and fearless spirit as her beloved mother. She spoke the truth with courage and sincerity, sometimes even when it was difficult to hear, because she believed in living with honesty and authenticity.

Angelica's life was not an easy one. She faced hardships that would have broken many, yet she continued forward with unwavering strength. In 2005, she endured the heartbreaking loss of her husband, Severo Garcia, which left her widowed and responsible for raising five children on her own. Despite living with limited financial means and facing a lifelong disability, Angelica took on the immense responsibility of providing for her family. She clothed them, fed them, protected them, and became the sole provider, carrying the weight of motherhood and survival on her shoulders.

In the midst of her own grief, Angelica rarely allowed herself the time to mourn. Instead, she chose to remain strong for her children. Day by day, she pushed forward with determination, ensuring that her children were cared for and protected from the harsh realities of life. She wore many hats, mother, provider, protector, and guide, never allowing fear to define her. Her strength came from love, and it was that love that fueled her determination to give her children a better life.

Angelica's story reflects the quiet strength of countless women who fight tirelessly for their families every day. Though her journey was filled with challenges, she never allowed hardship to take away her compassion or her hope. She met life's struggles with empathy for others and an enduring positivity that uplifted those around her. Angelica believed in perseverance and demonstrated it daily, showing her children that resilience and love can build something beautiful even from life's most difficult moments.

Out of hardship, Angelica created warmth, laughter, and connection. She had a remarkable ability to transform ordinary moments into cherished memories. One of the ways she found healing and joy was through cooking. Like her late mother before her, Angelica expressed love through the meals she prepared. Her kitchen was her sanctuary, and her cooking was her love language. She especially enjoyed hosting cookouts in her front yard, where family, friends, and neighbors could gather together. Through food, conversation, and laughter, she created a space where people felt welcomed, cared for, and accepted.

Angelica was, above all, a human being who longed for love, connection, and acceptance, just like anyone else. She gave her heart freely, fought fiercely for what she believed in, and never stopped loving those closest to her. Her strength was undeniable, but so was her tenderness, her warmth, and the beauty of her spirit.

Angelica will be deeply missed by all who loved her. She is survived by her children: Angelica Santiago, Yesenia Garcia, Yurisa Garcia, Anthony Ray Garcia, Allen Roy Garcia, and Severo Garcia Jr.

She survived by her beloved grandchildren: Angelica Micheal Palacios, Elias Michel, Nadia Guadalupe Sanchez, Skye Sanchez, Summer Tsitsiki Sanchez, Troy Roger Sanchez, Jade Venus Sanchez, Nevaeh Rose Sanchez, Roselie Esmeralda Rubio Garcia, Paulino Rubio Garcia Jr., Joel Isaac Montoya Garcia, and Joshua Abraham Garcia.

She is also survived by five beloved great-grandchildren: three children of Angelica Micheal Palacios and two children of Nadia Guadalupe Sanchez.

Angelica was preceded in death by her loving husband, Severo Garcia, and her former husband Juan Antonio Santiago.

Her memory will live on in the hearts of those who knew her. She leaves behind a legacy of courage, sacrifice, and unconditional love that will never be forgotten.

“ My beautiful mom, the bravest woman I have ever known. You are the one who helped me grow into the woman I am today. I will love you and miss you more than words can ever express.

I'm so grateful for the memories we were able to build this past year those moments will stay in my heart forever. I promise to continue living out your legacy and to love others the way you always loved so deeply and selflessly.

It hurts my heart to say goodbye so soon, but I carry you with me in everything I do. Thank you for being such an amazing mother. I love you endlessly. Te amo para siempre mamá! ☐

*Your daughter,
Yurisa Garcia*
