“Laura, we just learned of your mother’s death. She always had a warm smile for me and my family and was especially kind after we formally met at mass in Port Isabel. She had a certain charisma and kindness that enveloped those around her. She will be missed.”

“Always elegant, gracious, beautiful, and kind. My only consolation losing my aunt, is the thought of her running into Uncle Jesse's arms. I love and miss them both.”

“When I was a student in Mexico, I was introduced to Jesse and Mary Lou by a friend in 1972. The bond was immediate and has continued all these years. Mary Lou welcomed me so graciously into her home. Jesse made me so proud when he said David was number one son and I was number one-A. I miss them both greatly.”

When my husband and I moved to McAllen Mary Lou, who lived down the street, came to my front door with a cake on a crystal plate. She welcomed me to the neighborhood with open arms. Who does that anymore? She was a lady who maintained traditions and freely exhibited courtesy and caring for all. Those arms remained open for me until she went to her heavenly home. She became my best friend, checking on me regularly and accompanying me to concerts, the symphony, organization meetings, movies, restaurants, parties, and whatever random adventure we wanted to experience. She was uniquely special and a true friend. I feel lost without her and realize that my life will be greatly diminished by her absence. I miss her daily conversations and the love we shared. My only consolation is that she has reunited with her longtime sweetheart and whose absence caused her so much loneliness. She is happy now as they receive their eternal and deserved reward together for all they did for so many and for each other. Hasta luego Mary Lou.
