“ Saylor's mom and I have been best friends for over 30 years. When I met that bubbly, blonde with the most perfectly applied pink and purple eyeshadow (me with the jet black hair and dark red lipstick) I never imagined how much our lives would intertwine and that this beautiful girl who loved pink so much would soon become such a huge part of my life. I even watched the movie where Saylor got her name from together. My daughter, Piper, was born 5 months before Saylor and even though I lived in another state at that point...the plan was always that they would be forever friends just as Jen and I are. But for no reason at all Saylor left us far too soon. She was a unicorn in the sense that she was pure, unique and absolutely lovable. My heart is broken for my dear friend and for everyone who loved Saylor so deeply. Jen was always so patient and her life absolutely revolved around this precious girl. I mourn for the future she should have had and for the inexplicable pain my friend has been forced to endure. I love you Jen and I love Saylor.
